Designer Pool Coatings smooth textured finish lowers risk of skin-cuts and abrasions ...

Normal concrete aggregate pool finishes are traditionally known for being abrasive and posing potential risk of skin cuts and abrasion to pool users and especially after prolonged periods in the water that can lead to softening of the body skin. Designer Pool Coatings practically eliminates this risk because the product is a finely graded aggregate matrix that is smooth textured yet slip resistant and far less likely to cause the typical cuts and abrasions normally associated with traditional aggregate pool finishes.
